

SAUVIGNON BLANC 2023

VINEYARD & VINTAGE

It is widely known that high quality wines originate from exceptional regions. The balance of ripeness and acidity as well as the interaction between aroma and flavor are largely determined by climate and terroir.

Over the past couple of years, we have been thrilled with the exceptional quality of grapes we have received from La Lieff, a woman-owned and operated winery at the southern-most edge of San Luis Obispo County. These picturesque vines are located in a small, pristine valley nestled against the rugged terrain of the Los Padres National Forest. This Central Coast location where we grow our Sauvignon Blanc is known for its unique terroir which gives our wine its distinct character.

“This 2023 vintage was the latest we have ever picked the ranch in 15 years,” noted the Lieff Vineyard Manager. A late pick is highly valued in the world of wine, ensuring that the grapes have optimal time to develop deep and complex flavors on the vine. This happy spot of luck with the weather, combined with our use of a special Sauvignon yeast to help express all of its varietal characteristics make this 2023 Sauvignon Blanc a winning vintage.

REGION & VARIETAL COMPOSITION

TASTING & PAIRINGS

Our 2023 Bianchi Signature Selection Sauvignon Blanc opens with vibrant herbaceous and zesty aromas of ruby red grapefruit and passionfruit. On the palate, it delivers a delightful medley of gooseberry, green apple, and tangy citrus flavors, creating a crisp and lively experience. This wine embodies the distinctive terroir of its region, with a cool coastal influence and mineral-rich soils. Perfectly paired with fresh seafood, goat cheese, or a light summer salad, this Sauvignon Blanc is versatile and refreshing.
